Dry August Beginning to Hurt Crops

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The U.S. Weather Bureau in Little Rock said today the state is headed toward the driest August on record, and farmlands are beginning to show it.

In 1902, the driest August according to Weather Bureau records, only .19 inches of rain fell. So far this month, only .16 inches has been recorded by the Weather Bureau in Little Rock, which posts the official figure for the state.

The Crop Reporting Service said today crops and pastures are suffering moderate to heavy damage from the lack of rainfall, the declining moisture level and the persistent sunshine.

Record temperatures have been recorded for the last three days, 101 Sunday, 103 Monday and 101 Tuesday. The record for today, Aug. 22, is 98, set in 1936, and may be broken, the Weather Bureau said.

The temperature hit its first record Aug. 7 when it soared to 106. Since then, the lowest maximum has been 94 on the 14th and 15th. The forecast called for clear to partly cloudy and hot through Thursday with widely scattered showers and evening thunderstorms and maximum temperatures of 94 to 100.

The Weather Bureau said traces are recorded on two days this month, but the only measurable amount of rain was .16 inches. "Practically the entire state is in a drought," a Crop Reporting Service report said today. Exceptions are in scattered areas in some of the west central and northwestern counties.

Rain is urgently needed for soybeans in most producing areas, a service said, and late corn has been hurt by dry weather. Through baling is well along, fields have been cut short by weather. Irrigation is keeping soybean fields and most rice fields in good shape, the report said.

The heat is hurting livestock, the report said, since pastures are being burned. "Some cattle are losing weight and a few have been sold because of failing pastures," the Crop Reporting Service said. "Cattle are making good gains, however, in central, west central and northern areas."

The Arkansas-Missouri Cottonseed Association reports that cotton has been hurt in some sections by the weather, but despite damage crop prospects are good to excellent. Some counties expect to begin harvest Sept. 1, and some Sept. 15, the association said.

At its regular meeting this week the Hope Board of Directors added five projects to the sewer replacement program which will cost a total of $7,038.90.

This is in addition to the $200,000 plus project now in progress of replacing practically all the city's sewer mains.

The new additions and cost of each include:
A block east on Second to High Street, $1,114.03;
A block east on Fourth to Pine, $942.63;
West Ave. E on McRae to Ferguson, $1,341.31;

A block west on Sixth from Washington to Texas St., $1,273.72;
Fifth St. east on Grady and Hervey to Fourth; Fifth St. to Washington and Fourth St. to Washington, $2,367.21.

Angle Parking Is Almost Eliminated

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Highway Department said Tuesday efforts to eliminate angle parking on highways under its jurisdiction had been successful in all but four Arkansas cities.

The department said these are Mena, Nashville, Prescott and McCrory.

Bill Cooper, traffic engineer, said despite several requests the cities maintain angle parking. He said the department has the power to make its requests mandatory but would rather cooperate with the cities.

Such parking was eliminated in 48 cities last year. The roads involved, Cooper said, are Highways 8 in Mena, 27 in Nashville, 19 and 24 in Prescott and 17 in McCrory.

Quake Kills 15 in Italy, Many Are Injured

By DOMENICO GIORDANO

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — New earth tremors spread panic in southern Italy early today after a severe earthquake Tuesday night that took about 15 lives and injured at least 100.

No foreigners were reported among the dead and injured. The earth shocks left a trail of damage from this port city to the Adriatic coast. Some of the deaths were attributed to heart attacks from fright. Many of the injured were hurt in panicky flights from swaying homes and buildings.

Jacqueline Kennedy's cliffside vacation villa at Ravello is only 45 miles southwest of the apparent epicenter of the worst quake. Only slight tremors were felt there and Mrs. Kennedy's 4-year-old daughter Caroline and the rest of the household remained calm, servants said.

The American First Lady was visiting in the garden of another villa across town. Only a slight tremor was felt there.

Premier Amintore Fanfani flew here today to help officials speed relief.

Thousands of frightened Italians spent the night in the open. New shocks at 4:10 a.m. and 7:15 a.m. followed Tuesday night's major quake at 7:30 p.m.

This Neapolitan city kept its public parks open for refugees. Police estimated a third of the 1,500,000 residents spent the night in the open.

Several bridges were wrecked, telephone lines knocked down, water and power systems in many communities cut off. Police patrolled glass-strewn streets of stricken towns against looters.

Geologic disasters—earthquakes and volcanic eruptions—are not new in this area around Vesuvius, the volcano that buried the city of Pompei 1,900 years ago.

The worst shocks struck in an area between two cities that have felt disastrous quakes in the 20th century—Avezzano where 30,000 persons were killed in 1915, and Messina where 75,000 perished in 1908.

A Neapolitan woman was struck by a falling cornice stone and killed. Two other Neapolitans died of heart attacks. Single deaths were reported at Molinaro, Salerno and Avellino. Naples hospitals admitted 60 injured.

The top floor of a hospital collapsed at Passo Eclano, 40 miles east of Naples and near the quake's center. Several patients were reported injured.

Homes and buildings collapsed in at least half a dozen communities east of Naples. Windows were shattered in Naples and walls cracked. A railroad bridge collapsed at Bari, on the Adriatic Coast.

Avellino, a town of 37,000, 30 miles east of Naples, was especially hard hit. The quake knocked out the town's water supply and communications. Buildings lay in ruins.

Church bells chimed wildly throughout the countryside as the ground rocked across the peninsula to the Adriatic.

A mild quake preceded the main half-minute shock by 11 minutes and drove many of Naples' 1.5 million residents into the streets. When the heavy quake came, tens of thousands fled toward the Bay of Naples and open areas in the hills outside the city.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Charlie McHaney, Los Angeles and P. L. Babb of Vancouver, Washington. They died only one day apart. They were the sister and brother of Mrs. Ruth Edwards of Hope.

The Rev. R. H. Cannon, 86, a Methodist minister for 40 years, died today at Pine Bluff. He was the father of Thomas Cannon, Hope Band Director for 21 years, and the uncle of Clarice Cannon of Hope. Services will be held at 11 a.m. Friday at Pine Bluff.

Meet Called on Craighead Lake

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Plans to enlarge Craighead Forest Lake will be discussed at a meeting scheduled for 7:30 tonight in Jonesboro City Hall.

Ralph Mattix, chairman of the Craighead Forest Commission, said present plans are to enlarge the lake in the city-owned park from 40 to 120 acres. The lake has been drained down about 10 feet in preparation for the planned improvements.

Football Is Topic of Kiwanians

Superintendent of Schools James H. Jones, Head Football Coach John Pierce and his three assistants, Gordon Beasley, Billy Mitchell and Glen Ballard were guests of Hope Kiwanis Club yesterday at a program arranged by Leonard Ellis.

Football was the main topic of discussion. Coach Pierce announced a 12-game schedule with six home games and then discussed individual prospects among the 45 candidates reporting for the first practice session. By the time school opens, we hope to have 60 prospects for the 1962 team, the coach said.

"This is one of the finest football squads with the best spirit we have had in recent years — but time will tell how badly they want to play ball and what our success will be," the coach cautioned.

Supt. Jones appealed for support of the team and pointed out that it takes money to operate. He said that 500 season tickets would go on sale in the next few days at $1 per book, giving the athletic department a $500 start, if all the season books are sold.

Regular adult admission price will be $1.50 per game but a season book will save each individual $3. He also pointed out that all tickets in the book could be used for any home game at any time. For example: A season book of six tickets, all could be used for the first home game, if the individual desired to use them all, both of Hope.

Stolen Car Report False, Four Released

Police Chief Jack Brown said today that a complete investigation by FBI Agents resulted in all occupants of a car reportedly stolen at Texarkana Monday have been released.

The car was stopped at the Pak-A-Sak store on Third St. Monday night. It was driven by Delmer Charles Oller, about 30, of Texas who was arrested along with three others. Two of the occupants, a man and a woman, were charged with drunkenness. All were returned to Texarkana where the investigation revealed the owner of the car, a woman, had actually given Oller permission to drive it. Earlier in the day she reported the auto had been stolen but admitted letting him drive it after questioning. Oller and one male companion were released. The other two occupants were released after posting bonds for drunkenness.

Mrs. Owen Shoots Self Accidentally

Mrs. Ben Owen accidentally shot herself in the foot this morning at her home. She was rushed to a local hospital by a Herndon-Carpenter ambulance where she is now under treatment.

Mrs. Owen said she got the gun and was going into her yard to shoot a dog and the .22 cal. gun accidentally went off. The bullet crushed two bones in her foot. Although painfully wounded, Mrs. Owen is not considered critically ill.

Mrs. Putman, 93, lifelong county resident, died today at her home here late Tuesday night. She was a member of the Shaver Springs Baptist Church. Survivors include three daughters Mrs. Earl Ross and Mrs. Sam England of Hope, Mrs. Raymond of Deer Park, Texas; a son, Mr. Putman, of Hope.

Services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Thursday at Shaver Springs Baptist Church by the Rev. Arlis Shaver with burial by Smith Service, in Shaver Springs Cemetery.

2nd Chance for Four Steel Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate antitrust investigators have voted to issue "second chance" subpoenas to four steel companies that refused to hand in reports on their pricing practices.

The action came Tuesday at a closed-door session of the Senate antitrust subcommittee. Chairman Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said the vote was 5 to 3.

Before the session, Kefauver said he would ask the subcommittee to approve contempt of Congress citations against the National, Republic, Bethlehem and Armco steel corporations.

Instead, the senators decided to issue new subpoenas, giving the steel producers a second chance to comply, Kefauver said. He said the subpoenas will go out immediately, not only to the companies but to their chief officers as well, and will be returnable in 10 to 12 days.

The subcommittee's five Democrats voted to issue them, with the three Republican members opposed, Kefauver said.

The original subpoenas were issued last April after the steel industry's short-lived price increase. The $6 a ton boost was announced and then rescinded under White House pressure.

Kefauver said at that time detailed information on production costs was essential for "an intelligent evaluation of the need for price increases."

He said last week that eight steel companies, including U.S. Steel Corp., had indicated they would comply with the subpoenas, although they strongly objected to submitting cost figures.

Kefauver said he advised the eight they need not produce the data until the question of compliance by the noncomplying companies has been finally determined.

Struck by Lightning

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Roy Bruce Vann, 13, of near Conway, was knocked unconscious Tuesday when lightning struck him as he worked in a hay field. The youth was brought to a Conway hospital where his condition was listed as good. The boy and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Vann, live 10 miles north of Conway.

Republicans Elect

VAN BUREN, Ark. (AP) — Robert Gulley of Van Buren was elected chairman of the Crawford County Republican Central Committee at a meeting Tuesday in Van Buren. Others officers elected were Mack Bolding of Alma, vice chairman, and Miss Ona Smith of Van Buren, secretary-treasurer.

Moscow Calls for Store Cooperation

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government called today for an expansion of consumer cooperatives, trade outlets which operate independently of state-run stores.

The demand came only two weeks after a decree ordered expansion of the cooperative housing program, a program distinct from building projects run outright by the government.

The wording could indicate the government feels consumer cooperatives, which operate primarily in rural areas, can perhaps do a better job of supplying the people than state-run outlets.

The time the uniform is issued, Director Jon Barbarotto urges cooperation of parents to see that their children report Thursday. Those not fitted will not be able to perform with the band at the first football game which is Sept. 7 against Texarkana, Ark.

If you haven't noticed already the West Dept. Store building is in process of being remodeled inside and out.

Army 1st Lt. Robert A. Bland, whose wife, Harriette, lives at 1102 S. Main, Hope, recently completed stock control course at the Quartermaster School, Fort Lee, Va. Board of Education before entering the Army.

Efforts Made to Lift Sunken Barge

MEMPHIS (AP) — A U. S. Corps of Engineers dredge went to work on the Mississippi River today trying to clear the channel south of here where a 33-barge tow stuck Monday.

Barge traffic was blocked on the river when the motor vessel America ran aground in the main channel near Lake Cormorant, Miss., as the river reached its lowest level of the season. By last night all but four of the barges had been freed.

The river stage was 2.2 feet on the Memphis gage Tuesday. It was expected to drop to 1.3 feet by Friday morning.

Ship Trunk Has Yielded Second Body

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A steamer trunk has yielded a second body from under the cement floor of a garage in San Francisco's Ingleside district.

Police, who unearthed the trunk Tuesday night, said they assumed the decomposed body is that of Mildred Arneson, 58, wife of 70-year-old Day Arneson, whose body was found about 12 feet away Monday night.

The bodies were found under two recently laid layers of cement flooring of the home of a couple, police say took over the Arnesons' Santa Rosa, Calif., motel after their disappearance.

Mrs. Arneson and her husband were divorced but she continued to care for him because he was an invalid.

Arneson, a World War I Army major, had been buried under the concrete in the garage of the modest frame house. Police said he had been strangled with a black belt still around his neck. They said they had not yet determined the cause of the woman's death.

Investigators arrested the owner of the house, Ralph Kroeger, 61, a hod carrier, and issued a warrant for the arrest of Kroeger's wife, Iva, 44.

Chief of Inspectors Dan McKlem said Kroeger also denied knowing the whereabouts of his wife.

W. M. Ward, 89, Dies at Home of Daughter

W. M. Ward, 89, a longtime resident of Hope, died late Tuesday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Frank Schooley.

He is also survived by another daughter, Mrs. J. W. Blockmond of Jennings, Okla.; two sons, Loy Ward of Texarkana and R. E. Ward of McNeil and a sister, Mrs. Julia Munn of Prescott.

Services will be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday at Herndon-Cornelius Chapel by Dr. George Balentine. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

All Around Town

By The Star Staff

The City of Hope and areas south and east got a rainstorm late yesterday but the Experiment Station had only .05 of an inch and areas north got no rain at all. Gusts of wind blown rain quickly filled city streets and some damage resulted. The roof was blown off the Water and Light Plant boiler room, water soaked the switchboard and North Main and nearby areas were with out electrical current for about 1 1/2 hours. The plant sustained only roof damage, estimated at about $1,000. However, there was very little loss, if any, inside the plant. On a standby basis the plant is not in operation, thus the city is powered with current purchased outside and only a small area was out. This was due to the fact the switchboard was soaked.

Hope Senior band students are requested to pick up their uniforms assigned and fitted Thursday, August 23. Bandmothers will assist James Cleaners from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 2 to 5 p.m. This fitting is a must and the $2 fee must be paid at Friday afternoon.

Reds Say West Must Deal With East Germany

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP) — The Soviet Union summarily abolished its commandant's office in Berlin today and told the Western Allies henceforth they must deal with the Soviet military command in East Germany.

The move, coming at a time of rising tension in the divided city, was apparently a new step in the Soviet campaign to oust Western garrisons. The decision appeared intended to support the Soviet claim of East German Communist sovereignty in matters concerning Berlin except in strictly "un-power" military affairs.

There was no immediate comment from Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, the American commandant.

The announcement came two hours after U.S. Military Police at Checkpoint Charlie held up three Soviet armored cars for 45 minutes at the border crossing point. A hassle developed as the Russians insisted they did not want an escort despite recent stonings of Red army buses carrying sentries to the Soviet war memorial in the British sector.

The Soviet cars finally went through, accompanied by an American military escort.

The Soviet announcement said the Western powers have used the existence of the Soviet commandant's office as an excuse to interfere in internal affairs of East Germany.

The Soviet cars finally went through, accompanied by an American military escort.

The Soviet announcement said the Western powers have used the existence of the Soviet commandant's office as an excuse to interfere in internal affairs of East Germany.

The announcement declared the Western powers are resorting to such measures in order to preserve the occupation regime in West Berlin as a cover for the North Atlantic Treaty organization military base.

The Soviet announcement hinted at further moves.

The Russians said matters taken up by the Soviet commandant, such as movement of supplies for the Western garrisons and movement of troops in and out of West Berlin, are "temporarily within the jurisdiction of the headquarters of the group of Soviet troops in Germany."

That meant that even the arrangement was subject to change. Sir Christopher Steel, head of the British military government in Berlin, said the abolition of the Soviet command appears to have no great political implications. But he said he wanted to know more before commenting further.

TV Is Tough on American Comedians

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Those off stage moaning noises you hear are probably just the anguished cries of the nation's comedians, complaining about the killing qualities of television.

Look, they wail, Bob Newhart lasted just one season. Sid Caesar is coming back only after a long convalescence from a bad case of over-exposure. George Gobel no longer has his own show. Danny Thomas, Joey Bishop and some of the others have integrated their routines in situation comedies and are now mostly actors.

Really, television doesn't seem to have any place for the comedian with set routines except for three minutes once in a while on an Ed Sullivan show or—for penance—on one of those late evening sessions.

But while most comedians fret, an astonishing clown named Red Skelton is preparing to start his 12th television season by increasing the length of his show from 30 minutes to one hour.

The durable Skelton, at this moment, is so unconcerned about it that he is off on a vacation from television—playing to audiences at state fairs in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

"They told us to do an hour instead of a half hour," shrugged Cecil Barker, Red's producer for the past seven years. "So we'll do an hour. Red still only works two days a week."

Barker insists that an hour-long show is in many respects easier to pull off than a shorter one.

"It's the nature of Red," the producer explained. "He gets tired of material when he runs through it too often. Jack Benny, for instance, starts with a reading, follows with rehearsals and then they shoot the show. Red, by his own chemistry, loses enthusiasm, the jokes don't seem funny and his performance goes down. So we don't go through all that."

No Clues to Whereabouts of Escapees

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—Law enforcement officers in Texarkana were deluged with phone calls Tuesday from citizens claiming to have seen three men who escaped Sunday from the Miller County Jail.

But sheriff's deputies said no definite clues to the whereabouts of the three men were turned up.

The trio, identified by Sheriff Rudy Burgess as Jarrell K. Marlar, 32, of Hope; Charles Pasley, 20, of Ponke; and Leslie Melvin Simmons, 31, of Oregon, overpowered a jailer Sunday morning.

The best him with a rape and a bar of soap tied in a sock, ran down four flights of stairs and jumped out a second floor window of the court house to escape. The jailer was not seriously hurt.

Marlar was charged with murder and has been described by Burgess as dangerous.

Road blocks were up in Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas immediately after the escape was discovered. Burgess said Tuesday night they would remain up for two or three days.

Since the three escapees, sheriff's deputies, state police and Federal Bureau of Investigation agents say they have checked out hundreds of leads to no avail.

Late Sunday the three were reported to have boarded a train for Shreveport. A train was searched but the men were not aboard. They were reported seen in Hope Tuesday that lead proved false also, deputies said.

Enslay was being held for deserting the Army. Simmons was being held for the FBI on a charge of car theft.

Marlar is accused of the murder of Thomas O. Bond, whose body was found in a ditch near Ponke two months ago. Marie Derr, whom officers say was with him at the time of the murder, is at the State Hospital undergoing an examination.

Newport Goes Against City Manager Plan

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP)—Newport citizens voted by a margin of 22 votes Tuesday to retain their present mayor-city council form of government.

Unofficial returns from the city's five precincts showed 888 votes for the present form of government to 866 for the city manager form.

The ballots were impounded in a safe at the county courthouse by County Clerk Joe Armstrong after the pro-city manager group, the "Citizens for Better Democratic Government," said it was considering asking for a recount.

Early unofficial returns showed the vote to be 893 against the change to 864 for it, but it was discovered that the Ward 5 vote 54-48 for the city manager form, had been inadvertently reversed.

The first count of absentee ballots showed 61 to 20 for the proposed change but a later tabulation made it 67 to 21, officials said.

Mayor T. J. Walden called the special election July 13 after 350 citizens had petitioned for it July 9.

Walden and a "Committee to Retain Newport's Democratic Form of Government" were among opponents of the change.

Prematurely Buried, Nye Returns

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gerald P. Nye, one-time senator from North Dakota, arose from the grave in which a magazine article prematurely buried him and gave notice today that:

1. He is alive and kicking.
2. He knows where a certain body is buried, or rather where a truly-dead ex-senator's ashes were strewn in the long ago. In fact, Nye strewed them himself, under a tree on the Capitol grounds.

What brought Nye back from "the Great Beyond," was an article in the September issue of Pageant magazine entitled: "The Only Man Buried on Capitol Hill." It's a heart-tugging tale about Henry Clay Hansbrough, a publisher-politician who helped "tame the West, a pen in one hand and a sixgun in the other." When North Dakota entered the Union, he became its first representative in Congress and from 1891 to 1909 was U.S. senator.

Although still tall and handsome and although his handle-bar mustache still glinted, the aged Hansbrough felt a premonition of the end in 1933. Visiting the office of his friend, Sen. Nye, he said he loved Washington and wanted to remain on Capitol Hill forever.

Pointing out a window, he said: "When I die I want you to bury my ashes under that elm tree." Now Nye knew it was against the rules to bury anybody on the Capitol grounds. But for old friendship's sake he consented.

A short time later the old man died, and a box bearing his ashes arrived at Nye's office. According to the magazine article, Nye gathered a few friends and colleagues, proceeded to the tree and buried the box with a simple whispered prayer.

Versions of the incident leaked out, writes the author of the article, Edward Hymoff, but: "Sen. Nye himself carried the secret to the grave with him. Today, no one—barring possible survivors of the burial ceremony—even knows which elm tree the senator is buried under."

Nye, who is now 69 and a Federal Housing Administration specialist on housing for the elderly, he had checked his article through off a 1,500-word letter Tuesday to Howard Cohn, executive editor of Pageant. It wasn't as places."

Sees Battle to Beat Fulbright

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Dr. Kenneth Jones told the Jefferson County Republican Committee here Tuesday night he sees an uphill fight to defeat Sen. J. William Fulbright.

But he said, "We can win if we want to badly enough."

Jones did not mention Fulbright in his brief talk but was critical of the Kennedy administration.

Jones said "The primary danger to this country is from within, not from without. The danger lies in Washington, not in Moscow, as some would have you believe."

Two films were shown at the meeting. One concerned development of the two-party political system. The other dealt with organization of a political party at the precinct level.

rough a letter as Nye might have written back in the days when he was a fire-eating isolationist whose Senate career (1925-1944) stirred many a controversy.

In fact it was a mellow epistle datelined "Over here in the Great Beyond." Death must have been pained, he said, for he never noticed it. It could have been caused by those three wasps that stung him a while back in his garden.

But he wanted to set the record straight; he did not bury the box with Sen. Hansbrough's ashes; with his own hand he strewed them out of the box — "a plain everyday shoebox."

For years thereafter, he wrote, "the ground covered by the scattering produced the greenest grass on Capitol Hill and, at the time of my last observation, before coming Over Here, the tree, feeding upon the ashes of Henry Clay Hansbrough, was the healthiest looking of all the neighboring trees."

In conclusion, Nye gave Pageant a description of life "Over Here." It is much like life on earth, he said — gardening, churchgoing, work.

"I even draw pay for my services as though it were not known that I had departed life," he said. Many things are much the same as on earth, he said — including bills to pay and "taxes, taxes, taxes."

Editor Cohn told a newsmen he was deeply embarrassed. "I'm glad to hear Sen. Nye is alive," he said, "and if he's kicking it's with good reason."

Author Hymoff said he thought he had checked his article thoroughly but guessed he had day to Howard Cohn, executive editor of Pageant. It wasn't as places."

path of the three Soviet armored cars.

At first, the Russians refused to get out of their olive drab cars, marked with the red star. Then two Soviet officers emerged and talked with a U.S. major.

A U.S. Army sedan trailed the Soviet convoy to the Soviet war memorial in the British sector.

The Russians returned about 45 minutes later and were quickly waved through the checkpoint into East Berlin.

The Russians have repeatedly rejected escorts while traveling in West Berlin despite the stoning by West Berlin demonstrators. They switched from buses to armored cars.

Earlier, East German border guards and West Berlin police fought with rocks and tear gas grenades across the Communist wall.

West police said the new clash erupted when the Red guards opened up with a rock barrage. They were driven back with tear gas grenades. No injuries were reported on either side.

The flareup came near Bernauer Strasse, scene of many daring escapes since the Communists built the barrier dividing the city.

During the night, West police rounded up 128 persons for identity checks in a hunt for Communist agents. The Western commandants have charged Red agents were fanning the demonstrations in West Berlin. All were released.

Heavy rains cleared the streets of West Berlin demonstrations during the night.

The Soviet war memorial sentries—stoned for three nights in a row—went to their posts in armored cars Tuesday night.

City Offered Deal by 'Rainmaker'

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A North Little Rock man has made what he claims is the first offer in history to "air condition" a city.

Horner Berry, a retired Air Force officer, said in a letter to the North Little Rock city council Tuesday he would lower the temperature of that city by 10 degrees every day for the rest of the summer and raise it by 10 degrees daily through the winter.

Berry claimed he would eliminate frost and tornado damage, increase the frequency of rainfall without raising the annual average and maintain proper surface moisture during the growing season.

All this would be done at a cost of $500 a month. Berry sought a year's contract but said in the letter he was willing to accept a cancellation clause. He also said it wouldn't be much trouble to include Little Rock in the offer if that city wants to share the expense.

Otherwise, he can stop the "air conditioning" at the river, he said.

The heating and cooling would be done through seeding of clouds with silver iodide, a process developed in the 1940's by a Denver meteorologist.

Berry said through the process he could manipulate cold and warm air masses and control the temperature.

He has been in the rain and snowmaking business for several years. Berry uses for a weather machine a fire brick-lined oil drum in which he burns lumps of coke that have been soaked in the iodide.

Condemned Rapist Seeks Rehearing

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—District Judge Gordon E. Young was asked Tuesday to review the case of Lonnie Mitchell, a Negro condemned to die for raping a white woman.

Attorneys for Mitchell argued in U.S. District Court here that Mitchell's civil rights had been violated in questioning and trial in 1959.

Young granted Mitchell a stay of execution last Thursday after Christopher Mercer of Little Rock, the Negro's attorney, asked the federal court to look into the case.

Young is expected to enter an order in the next few days saying whether he will consider the case. Mitchell, scheduled to die last Friday for the rape of a white woman in El Dorado in 1959, sat silently in the courtroom listening to the proceedings. His head had already been shaved for the execution.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Thorp Thomas argued that the record is closed on systematic exclusion of Negro in jury selection in the state and in coercion in securing confessions. He also said state remedies in the case have not been exhausted.

Mercer contended he had exhausted all state remedies, including appeals to the state Supreme Court. He asked Young for a writ of habeas corpus, a common law order designed to bring a party before a court.

Accused Slayer in Mental Hospital

MARIANNA, Ark. (AP)—Lee County Sheriff Courtney Langston said today Claude Holloway, 50, of Marianna, who was charged with murder, has been committed indefinitely to the State Hospital at Little Rock.

Langston said Holloway was found to be psychotic by doctors at the hospital.

Holloway had been charged with first-degree murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Mrs. Geraldine Holloway, his 37-year-old wife, on May 13.

Circuit Judge Elmo Taylor signed the order committing Holloway to the State Hospital.

Sheriff Langston said if Holloway eventually is released from the institution he will be tried on the murder charge.

NOTICE

Something About "Eat-Out-Night"

First we apologize to you for running out of Catfish this past Thursday night. You know Eat Out Night is at the Barlow Hotel Coffee Shop each and every Thursday night. This Thursday night we will start at 5:15. It seems that people get hungry early and want to get started. We have all the good White River Catfish you can eat up here this time, and as you know you get all you can eat, plus French Fries, Green Salad, Hot Rolls and Good Service for only 99c.

Then there is the T-Bone Steaks, which we give you for $1.49 that are regular $2.00 size, and then the $1.50 T-Bone Steak which you get for $1.15 and they really are delicious, served with French Fries or Baked Potato, Salad and all the trimmings.

We can't forget the Fried Chicken because the way we cook it at the Barlow it is really a treat to eat. You get 1/4 a chicken for 75c and 1/2 a chicken for 99c. What a big saving! You get French Fries or Baked Potato, Salad and all the other things thrown in.

Then there is the Twin Steaks which are a $1.25 value but on Thursday night you get it for 99c and the 6 Jumbo Shrimp for 90c. We also have the Fillet Mignon which is a $1.50 value and on Thursday night you get it for 95c and boy are they delicious.

Last but not least is the Fisherman's Net which is Shrimp and Fish Sticks and is served with French Fries, Green Salad, Hot Rolls and Butter all for 85c.

It is a shame to have your wife cook over a hot stove when once a week on Thursday nights you can eat out at the Barlow for less than you can buy the food for. We open the Coffee Shop which will seat 75 on Thursday night but don't let that stop you because we can seat 200 in the Dining Room and will be glad to open it on Thursday nights.

So come and Bring the Family and be with us on Thursday Night starting this week.

Give the wife a treat and eat out.

Pentagon to Ban Movies of 2nd War

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movies about the American fighting forces, a Hollywood staple since the first days of World War II, are in danger of extinction by Pentagon directives.

So says Sy Bartlett, an expert in the service picture. An Air Force reserve colonel himself, he is now filming a saga of the Strategic Air Command, "A Gathering of Eagles," with Rock Hudson and Rod Taylor.

The movie almost didn't get made, Bartlett remarked.

"It took the recommendation of Gen. Curtis LeMay and President Kennedy himself to get it past the Pentagon brass," the producer said.

There was a time when the services were falling over each other to extend cooperation to film makers on films extolling the glories of the particular branches. What happened?

It was the second coming of D-Day that did it. Darryl Zanuck borrowed American troops and equipment to help stage "The Longest Day." Congressmen got wind of this and started a barrage against such use of American fighting men.

"It's ridiculous," complained Bartlett. "The only thing they want to know now is: How will the movie benefit the taxpayers? So we had to explain how it would show the taxpayers what they are getting for their money."

"It would also demonstrate the system of positive control to those who fear that a war can be started through error. And it would show in a very graphic way to the Russians why they would be foolish to start anything."

Even after such arguments, Bartlett received no concessions in filming of his picture. He was told he could proceed—but personnel and equipment could not be used for anything beside their regular duties.

"That kind of ruling would eliminate almost every kind of service picture," the producer declared. "Fortunately, we were able to go ahead because SAC is in daily maneuvers which we could photograph."

Bartlett is a champion of the service film not merely because he makes many of them. He thinks they do a good selling job for the United States at home and abroad.

DOROTHY DIX

Possessive Husband Driving Her Nuts

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE
Dear Helen: I can't call my husband, because of busy lives, soul my own. Every breath I draw has to be accounted for to my husband. He insists upon possessing all of me—thoughts, flesh, spirit, until I feel but an echo of myself. If this keeps on one of us will destroy the other.

Most people would say he was a wonderful husband. I am surrounded by material evidence of his love. He never comes home without a present. One night it will be white roses, another my favorite candy and, on special occasions like my birthday which was last week, some expensive gift such as a cultured pearl necklace.

He tells me I am in his thoughts 24 hours a day. This I believe. I so much as walk down, across, or up the street for an innocent girl-to-girl gabfest with another housewife, he throws a fit, not a loud one; just an icy stare and a "Where did you go this time?" in a chilly, tight-lipped tone of voice.

I never go visiting till my work is done and, with children, it seems like it is never done. Yes, we've been married long enough to have three children, the eldest of which is mine, so this makes my husband's jealousy all the slier.

Believe me, it is completely unfounded. As I see it, he is suffering from an obsession and that obsession is me. Now I love him but in an entirely different way. My one thought is to see him happy; free as a bird, knowing that he may go where and when he wishes, with no questions asked. In other words, I have complete trust in him. To me that is true love. Do I deserve to be treated like a fugitive from justice if I occasionally call upon a neighbor? What's the answer?—In Bondage.

Dear In Bondage: Your husband can't comprehend your kind of love. The very fact that you give him plenty of rope makes him think you don't give a hoot what he does.

I agree that the foundation of a deep and abiding love is complete trust, but there is such a thing as being too impersonal. A wife ought to care where her husband goes and what he does.

When he comes home, ask him about his day—not with the idea of nagging but because of affectionate concern. Be interested in his friends. Make them an integral part of both your lives. Make his hopes, fears, dreams, joys and sorrows yours. Let him feel that you're in there pitching for him.

And how about giving him a present every now and then just to show that he is in your thoughts? A little of this and of interest rates.

The prospect is bleak enough to the traditional American way of thinking which labels debt as a terrible fear that you no longer love him, which in a sense is very flattering. You're really lucky!

Dear Helen: Like many another reader of your column I am plagued by beach neighbors. After thinking, growing more articulate, years of hard work, we acquired an ideal ocean-front home. The government debt isn't as bad as it is in the ointment is our next seems to some, and that balanced door neighbors who have no respect for property lines, appropriate our belongings and treat our Shangriha as if it were a common-billboard debt not with past levels of try store. Since our business involves dealing with many people, income and with total national as we crave privacy weekends. How can we attain it without a battle royal?—No More Patience.

Dear No: The problem of how capital than in the previous debt to keep neighbors within bounds peak at the end of World War II is no different from that of keeping children, animals—even slower rate than the population, yourself—within bounds. It boils down to a question of discipline hold that we can afford a $300-billion federal debt.

But the immediate problem for the Treasury is this: It must keep its very sensitive nerve; the Speak up! Explain to them gently eternally at paying it off, even money market.

Americans Living It Up, Up, Up

By JAMES MALOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans are living it up, up, up.

The national debt has reached $300 billion for the first time in history, the Treasury announced Monday.

It's been quite a climb. In 1849 the debt was only $63 million. By the end of the 19th century the debt finally got over the $1-billion mark. It was $1,437,000,000 in 1899.

It has never dropped below the billion-dollar figure since.

Yet, it never got up to the $2-billion mark until 1917—the year America got into World War I—when it became $2,976,000,000, a jump of $1,751,000,000 over 1916.

That was peanuts compared with what was to come. By 1919 the debt had risen to $25,485,000,000, thanks to war costs.

With the war over, the United States tried to whittle down the debt and did so, steadily. From 1920 to 1930 the debt decreased every year until in 1930 it was down to $16,185,000,000.

In every one of those years the government wound up with a surplus but never enough, of course, to pay off the debt at one crack.

All the years mentioned here are fiscal years from one July 1 to the following June 30. So that low mark of $16,185,000,000 in 1930 was for the fiscal year which began July 1, 1929.

It's a memorable date. The great depression began with the market crash in October 1929. In the last fiscal year of President Hoover's administration — 1933 — the debt had inched up to $22,539,000,000.

Still, looking back, even that figure seems insignificant because two tremendous changes in the years ahead were to take place in American thinking, and all of them cost money.

One—under President Franklin D. Roosevelt — was the decision that the government had a responsibility for the general welfare. It found its voice in the New Deal. That, and the general effort to get out of the depression, cost money.

The other—and this still lay some years ahead—was the American decision to abandon its isolationism, which had been its viewpoint throughout most of its history, and become an international leader.

This meant getting into World War II and, later, foreign alliances, foreign aid, nuclear weapons and the space race.

And this is what happened: Under Roosevelt, with 13 million people unemployed and the country desperate, the government really had to go into hock. By the end of the 1941 fiscal year the debt stood at $48,961,000,000.

Even that was nothing compared with what was to come. In December 1941, the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor and the United States was in its second world war. The roof blew off.

The war ended in August 1945 — which was in the 1946 fiscal year—and for that fiscal year the national debt was $269,422,000,000.

Under President Harry S. Truman the public debt went down, steadily every year until the country got involved in the Korean War. Up went the debt because of the new need for spending.

President Eisenhower took over in the middle of the 1953 fiscal year. The debt for that year was $266,071,000,000. It climbed steadily under Eisenhower, except for one year, even with the Korean War ended.

If there's any satisfaction from the money the United States has to spend in the contest with Russia, it's the fact that Russia has to spend, too, and the Americans' living standards are far better.

President Kennedy inherited this contest, and all it involved, when he took over in the middle of the 1961 fiscal year. The debt for that year reached $283,971,000,000.

And now, with the 1962 fiscal year ended, the Treasury says the debt is a little over $300 billion when it is going further into debt.

At the individual's level this shows up in the sale and redemption of U.S. savings bonds. These activities go on constantly, with the ratio between the changing from month to month—and thus affecting the size of the total federal debt.

Each week the Treasury must also pay off more than a billion dollars' worth of short-term bills coming due. It does this by offering new ones, and as often as not offers more new ones than old ones, thus raising new money—and the total debt.

Also longer-term notes and bonds mature at frequent intervals and must be paid. Here also the Treasury usually offers to swap new ones for old—and sometimes raises a little more money to boot.

That's how the debt grows. And the changes in interest rates paid each time, the types of offerings—long- or short-term—and the type of investor to whom they appeal all affect the economy by touching its very sensitive nerve; the money market.

Spends 3 1/2 Days Trapped in a Mine

HILL CITY, S.D. (AP) — "I made some bargains with God—but I always was sure that, somehow, I'd be rescued," Alrman Gerald Becker said in telling about the 3 1/2 days he spent trapped in an abandoned gold mine pit near here.

The chance halt of a tourist party brought his rescue Monday. Becker, 18, of Mapleton, Minn., had last Thursday night off from his duties as a mechanic at nearby Ellsworth Air Force Base. He decided to go swimming in Sheridan Lake.

"But it was too cold, so I then started exploring instead," said Becker Monday night at the base hospital, where he is under observation.

"I came across this big hole in the ground in the woods and started walking around it, peering down. All of a sudden the edge gave way and I fell 50 feet to the bottom."

After recovering from the initial shock, Becker looked for a hold on the shale and slate walls to enable him to climb out but found none. Then he started shouting for help.

When darkness fell, he gave up and made himself a primitive bed out of brush that had fallen into the pit.

"But I couldn't sleep very much because it got pretty cold," he said. "It must have fallen to about 50 or less and I only had light trousers and a T-shirt."

Friday, Saturday and Sunday took a long time to pass.

Early Monday the vacationing Pete Placek family from Phoenix, Ariz., stopped in the area to let their youngsters exercise. Becker, with his now very hoarse throat, heard them and called out.

Placek hurried to a cabin resort near the lake for help.

Two forestry men, a rancher and Placek returned to the pit with a rope, and with it tied around his waist Becker made his way up the sheer wall.

"All I could think of all the time was how my ma would be torn up if anything happened," said the airman. "Yes, and I made some bargains with God—but I always thought I'd be rescued and that confidence helped me along."

Soybean Group Names Officers

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Officers of the American Soybean Association were re-elected at the annual meeting here Tuesday.

They are Charles V. Simpson, Waterville, Minn., president; Hays Sullivan, Burdette, Ark., vice president; and George M. Strayer, Hudson, Iowa, executive vice president and secretary-treasurer.

No one even dreams of wading out the debt. The best anyone can suggest is to try to reduce it a bit.

The real emphasis is on trying to keep the American head above water by trying to keep expenses lower than income. Eisenhower wasn't very successful in that and Kennedy probably won't be, either.

Injuries Fatal to Postal Inspector

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo. (AP)—A postal inspector from the St. Louis area died in a Popular Bluff hospital Monday night from injuries received in an auto accident.

He was Harold W. Stark of Brentwood.

Stark, state police said, was driving from Piedmont to Van Buren when his small foreign car and a pickup truck collided on Highway 34 a half mile southwest of Piedmont.

The driver of the pickup truck, Young, 32, of Esther, and a passenger, John Kaniels of Fredericktown, were injured seriously.

Soviet Set Off Nuclear Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has set off a nuclear explosion of several megatons in the atmosphere, reports the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

A megaton is the equivalent of the explosive force of a million tons of TNT.

The AEC said the detonation was Monday in the vicinity of the Soviet test site at Novaya Zemlya. This is the fourth nuclear detonation reported by the AEC in the current series of Soviet tests which began Aug. 5.

Private, TVA Power Swap Announced

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas Power & Light Co. announced today an agreement between Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi power companies and the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) to exchange power between electric systems in the nation's history.

Under the agreement, TVA will supply the companies with added power in summer and the companies will feed TVA added power in winter. TVA and the private companies have peak loads in the different seasons, due to heating and air conditioning demands.

The exchange will begin in 1965 and eventually will reach 1.5 million kilowatts each way annually.

Arkansas Power & Light Co. said it will invest about $40 million in new transmission lines and related facilities to help move the power to the participating companies.

Four major new substations will be built, AP&L said.

R.E. Ritchie, AP&L president, said the agreement will mean great savings for both the investor-owned systems and the TVA power system. The TVA board of directors said the move was important in holding down costs of providing electricity for the TVA area.

The companies and TVA expect to save more than $50 million each through eventual reduction in their needs for new generating facilities.

Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisiana Power and light companies are operating companies of Middle South Utilities, Inc. The systems of Middle South are interconnected with other electric companies in the south and southwest, serving customers in Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas and Missouri.

TVA serves power systems in Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and Virginia.

The companies will apply to the Federal Power Commission and their respective state regulatory bodies for approval of their participation in the new arrangements.

Engineers from 11 investor-owned electric companies are planning the project. The contract was negotiated over a period of months by TVA and a five-member negotiating committee, including R. R. Pittman of Little Rock, AP&L vice president.

About 300 miles of new transmission lines will be built in Arkansas and 200 miles of AP&L's present transmission system may be converted to handle the higher-voltage power.

New transmission lines would operate at 345,000 to 500,000 volts. The highest voltage transmission line in the AP&L system is the Helena-Pine Bluff circuit, energized in 1961, which operates at 230,000 volts.

The extra-high voltage interconnections will be built at West Memphis, Ark., and West Point, Miss.

THE BIRTHDAY GIFT
By ED LACY

Vera phoned: "Matt, I've figured a way."

"Are you calling from the apartment?"

In spite of her cunning, Vera didn't always credit others with having a little of it too. Or per was calling from the apartment, why Matt had asked her if she waiter is near the rest rooms, out "Don't worry, he's in his bedroom, sleeping. Has to take his afternoon nap. Doctor's orders. Matt, next Wednesday is my birthday and you know Russ will take us to the restaurant for a few drinks and supper. The usual big deal. I want you to bring Mary along as . . .

"May? She's a lush."

"Exactly. We'll meet at 7:30 p.m. and by 8:30 Mary will be on the verge of passing out. I'll help her to the ladies room. Now get this. When the restaurant was under the old management they used to have room service via a dumbwaiter. Send trays of food up to the apartments. Haven't done that for two years, now, but I learned that the mechanical dumbwaiter is still working!"

"Okay. So what?"

"Don't be so thick. The dumbwaiter is near the rest rooms, out of sight of the restaurant. Before we go down for supper, I'll leave the dumbwaiter door in my apartment unlatched. Now everything will depend upon our timing. At 8:50 you remind Russell he has to take his nightly pill. He'll go up to the apartment but I'll be there, via the dumbwaiter. I'll shoot him with his own pistol, put the gun in his hand and the doctor's report giving him only a year to live in his pocket. I'll return by dumbwaiter to the restaurant and by 9:30 I'm either in the ladies room trying to bring Mary around, or I'll come back to the table, ask where Russ is. Matt, a perfect alibi! You understand—on my birthday, realizing he's fatally ill, Russ killed himself—almost a birthday gift to me!"

Matt was as cautious as Vera was reckless and daring. Perhaps this was because he was not as clever or as self-reliant. Whenever he tried to work out a smooth little idea, he always seemed to make a slip.

"Sounds too iffy," Matt said over the phone. "Vera honey, if he only has a year to live, why can't we wait?"

"No! I could hardly stand being around him before, now that he's sick. I can't bear to be near him. Within two months he'll be bed-ridden, and I won't be his nursemaid for a whole year!"

"Vera, I don't know. Why not leave him?"

"And pass up the insurance I married him for?"

"But this wild scheme—will the dumbwaiter support your weight? How about fingerprints?"

"The dumbwaiter will carry me. I've already tried it. Doesn't make any noise either. As for prints, I'll be wearing black evening gloves. Matt, I even dusted and cleaned the dumbwaiter."

Within the hour a member of the Homicide bureau was telling Vera, "Last Thursday your husband sent letters inviting 10 couples to a surprise party for you. He wrote implicit instructions—they were all to be in the hallway outside your apartment at exactly 8:55 p.m. and upon hearing him fire a 'blank cartridge' were to rush in and surprise you. Not only are there 20 witnesses to you murdering your husband, but the bit about waiting for the sound of a gun, proves he knew you meant to kill him. This was premeditated murder. In short, your husband gave you a first degree murder rap for your birthday!"

Foreign Trade Expansion Bill Plugged

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy pressed Democratic congressional leaders today for a foreign trade expansion bill without crippling amendments.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said some of these would give Kennedy less powers than other chief executives have had under reciprocal trade laws.

The Senate leader and House Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts said the trade bill was the major item of discussion at the weekly breakfast meeting with Kennedy. Other items on the legislative program were touched briefly.

Mansfield described Kennedy as "very pleased, quite enthusiastic about the reception he received," on a weekend trip to the West.

Kennedy visited three water projects, in South Dakota, Colorado and California, on what had been billed as nonpolitical trip. Along the way he saw plenty of Democratic candidates and a few Republicans, and had some kind words to say for several of the Democrats.

Ex-President Now in Ireland

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower flew into a throng-packed airport here today to begin a four-day sight-seeing visit.

It was the former president's first visit to the Irish capital and the cheering, applauding crowd gave him a tumultuous welcome.

Tanned and smiling, Eisenhower flew here from Scotland with a brief stopover at Belfast, in northern Ireland.

Before leaving Culzean Castle, Eisenhower said his Scottish holiday was so successful he would like to return in a couple of years. But he x x x second graf

Maloney Helps Redlegs Climb in Standing

BY MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

'Round about June, Cincinnati Manager Fred Hutchinson had a perplexing mathematical problem. No matter how he added things up, his search for a fourth starter invariably left him with three. Then Hutch had a hunch—Jim Maloney.

It's August, the defending champion Reds have pulled to within five games of National League-leading Los Angeles and are only 1 1/2 back of second-place San Francisco. One of the major reasons—Jim Maloney.

A right-hander who originally started in the Cincinnati organization as a shortstop, Maloney continued his fine hurling Tuesday with a four-hit job while Marty Keough's two-run inside-the-park homer provided the support for a 2-0 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

It was the fourth consecutive triumph for Maloney, who has solved Hutch's pitching problem by joining Bob Purkey (19-4), Joey Jay (13-10) and Jim O'Toole (13-13) as the Reds' big four. Maloney now is 8-4 and has allowed only six runs in his last four starts—an amazing .164 earned run average.

Keough, meanwhile, took over where the Reds' big hitters—Frank Robinson, Vada Pinson and Gordie Coleman—failed against Don Cardwell. The 28-year-old utilityman, acquired from Washington and hitting at a .280 clip, stroked the game-winning eighth inning after a single by Leo Cardenas.

The triumph was the Reds' 14th in the last 17 games and moved them another step closer to the Dodgers and Giants, who were both idle Tuesday.

In other action, Milwaukee edged St. Louis 6-5 in 10 innings, Pittsburgh extended New York's losing streak to 13 games with an 8-6 triumph in the opener of a doubleheader before the Mets a loss over the Colts by winning 10-1. Philadelphia off to a sweep over Houston with a 5-3 first-game triumph for his 17th victory. The Phils made it 15 in a row without a loss over the Colts by winning the nightcap 7-4.

In the American League, the first place New York Yankees increased their edge to five games with an 11-4, 10-inning victory over the Los Angeles Angels. Minnesota whipped Washington 5-2. Detroit walloped Cleveland 10-1. Baltimore belted the Chicago White Sox 9-1 and Boston outslugged Kansas City 11-6.

The Cards tied it in the ninth on a run-producing bloop single by Charley James, but the Braves came up with the winner in the 10th on a double by pinch hitter Joe Torre and a two-out single by Lee Maye. Earlier, Tommie Aaron homered for the Braves while brother Hank extended his hitting streak to 21 games.

Gene Oliver homered for St. Louis. The winner was Claude Raymond (5-2), who has saved nine games since joining the club June 28. Don Ferrarese (1-4) was the loser.

The Pirates came up with four runs in the ninth inning of the opener—three on a throwing error by third baseman Felix Mantilla—to beat the Mets and Roger Craig (7-20). Reliever Diomedes Olivo (6-1) who singled across the fourth run, got the victory.

In the nightcap, Marv Throneberry came out of the coaching box and tagged a two-out, three-run, pinch-hit home that enabled the Mets to snap their second longest losing streak of the year. Robert G. Miller (2-1) was the winner with Elroy Face (8-5) the loser.

Mahaffey (17-10) was touched for seven Houston hits, one more than the Phillies got in the opener but led all the way after a three-run Philadelphia first. Bob Bruce (7-8) gave up two walks and hit a batter in the inning with Don Demeter's looping single the only hit.

In the second game, consecutive home runs by Johnny Callison and Roy Sievers moved the Phils out front to stay in the first inning. Callison went 4-for-4 in support of Jack Hamilton (7-11), who gave up homers to Jim Campbell and Carl Warwick. Jim Golden (5-11) lost it.

Fish Farming Bill Written

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal classifying fish farming as an agricultural pursuit was written by the Senate into the farm bill Tuesday.

The effect of the amendment, offered by Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., would be to make fish farmers eligible for loans and other assistance from the Farm Credit Administration.

Fulbright said it is a matter of considerable importance to Arkansas to have the amendment in effect, since many farmers in the rice growing areas of Arkansas are now engaged in the commercial production of fish on idle rice land.

Fulbright said "adoption of this amendment should permit expansion of the Arkansas fish farming industry. This industry has a great potential. We have just scratched the surface."

The proposal by Fulbright was included in an earlier farm bill which the Senate passed but the House declined to accept.

Coaches Stress Defense in Opening Drills

By VINCE FOSTER

Coach John Pierce termed both physical practices successful Tuesday, although the afternoon session was hampered by rain. Along with drills the morning practice was spent on defense, while offense was run in the afternoon.

All three of the local coaches were impressed with the performance of Charles Bergas, 185 pound senior guard. Line Coach, Gordon Brasley, was also pleased with the hustling of Charles Beyerley and Jack Jackson. The backfield hasn't had much of a chance to really spark, since very little scrimmaging has taken place and only "dummy" at that. Coach Pierce hopes the boys will be ready for a "live" scrimmage by Friday afternoon.

Incidentally, for the past three seasons the Hope Junior Bobkittens won a total of 20 consecutive games, with the exception of the final game last year the Bobkittens haven't lost a game in three years. Since that winning streak started with this year's seniors, this season may prove just how important junior high football is, both to the team and the coach.

The last bout Hope had on the gridiron with Texarkana ended in the Cats "slaughtering" the Hogs 39-13. The Razorbacks will probably be constantly reminded of this score throughout the next two weeks and will be eager for vengeance. When Sept. 7 rolls around, will the Cats be able to "bring home the bacon" again?

Runs in the ninth inning of the opener—three on a throwing error by third baseman Felix Mantilla—to beat the Mets and Roger Craig (7-20). Reliever Diomedes Olivo (6-1) who singled across the fourth run, got the victory.

In the nightcap, Marv Throneberry came out of the coaching box and tagged a two-out, three-run, pinch-hit home that enabled the Mets to snap their second longest losing streak of the year. Robert G. Miller (2-1) was the winner with Elroy Face (8-5) the loser.

In the second game, consecutive home runs by Johnny Callison and Roy Sievers moved the Phils out front to stay in the first inning. Callison went 4-for-4 in support of Jack Hamilton (7-11), who gave up homers to Jim Campbell and Carl Warwick. Jim Golden (5-11) lost it.

Arkansas Made Movie to Play Here

A movie made in Arkansas will be showing Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Saenger Theatre.

Yelda Seamans, Saenger and Dixie Drive in Manager, stated that the picture, "Terror of Black Falls" was filmed around Scotland, a small community about 35 miles from Morrilton.

The picture was shot about three years ago after the Arkansas Publicity and Parks Commission directed its producers to Scotland when they asked for a small community resembling a town in the 1880s.

Many people from Conway and Van Buren counties are in the scenes.

Yanks Explode in 9th Down Angels 11-4

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bill Rigney's disorderly stomach was doing the Mt. Vesuvius twist today to the accompaniment of 76 trombones.

That, at least, should be the state of Rigney's harassed internal system after the beating his Los Angeles Angels took from the American League leading New York Yankees Tuesday night.

The Angels' manager, just out of the hospital for treatment of a stomach disorder, watched his scrappy club tie the powerful Yankees in the ninth, then had to witness a seven-run explosion in the 10th inning that gave the front-runners an 11-4 victory.

Rigney suffered a soft jolt when Bill Skowron drove in the tie-breaker. Two severe quakes followed on run-producing hits by Tony Kubek and Clete Boyer.

Roger Maris' grand-slam homer got the twist music going. The victory in the opener of the key three-game series boosted the Yankees lead to five games over the Angels and Minnesota Twins, who moved into a tie for the runner-up spot by defeating Washington 5-2 on the combined four-hit pitching of Jack Kralick and Ray Moore.

Elsewhere in the AL, Detroit belted Cleveland 10-1 while Jim Bunning hurled a four-hitter, Rob in Roberts pitched Baltimore to a 9-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox and Boston walloped Kansas City 11-6.

In the National League, Cincinnati shut out the Chicago Cubs 2-0, Milwaukee edged St. Louis 6-5 in 10 innings, Philadelphia National Wildlife Refuge, Valentine, Neb., and the National Bison

U. S. to Sell Buffaloes, Longhorns

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you're hunting for a gift guaranteed to thrill even the most jaded young Indian—

Or perhaps just a conversation piece to enliven draggy patio parties—

The government has them—233 buffalo and 137 longhorn cattle.

They're part of the Interior Department's annual big game sale.

The animals graze at national wildlife refuges. Each year the growing herds have to be cut down to keep them from taxing the capacity of the ranges.

For $180 you can have a live buffalo to call your own. The longhorns will go to the highest bidders.

The government also has a deal for those who prefer their big game packaged, frozen and ready for the freezer.

Butchered buffalo will go for $220 to $270 per carcass—depending on the process used. Quarters and halves are available, too.

Also for sale are 75 elk—but only after they have been butchered—at $110 to $145. Minimum quantity a half carcass.

The orders for buffalo should be sent to any of three refuges: Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge, Cache, Okla.; Fort Niobrara National Wildlife Refuge, Valentine, Neb.; and the National Bison moved out front in their half of the first with Dick McLulliffe's two-run single the key blow of a four-run rally. McLulliffe had four singles for the night and drove in three runs. Steve Boros homered for the Tigers as the Indians went down to their 32nd defeat in the last 44 games. Jim Perry (9-10) lost it.

Roberts (8-6) limited the White Sox to seven hits and didn't allow a run until Floyd Robinson homered in the ninth. The Orioles did their damage early against Early Wynn (6-10), who was seeking his 29th victory. Wynn forced in a run with a bases-loaded walk in the first inning, then was tagged for a grand slam by John (Boog) Powell. Roberts' triumph was his 242nd. He's third among active pitchers, behind Milwaukee's Warren Spahn and Wynn.

Carl Yastrzemski paced a 15-hit Red Sox offensive that overwhelmed the Athletics and Bill Fischer (4-5). The Boston outfielder drove in five runs with a home run, double and single, contributing his two-bagger to a three-run first inning. Norm Siebern hit two homers for the A's, each time connecting with a mate aboard to raise his league-leading runs batted in total to 95. Earl Wilson, Washington, 25, D.C.
